Covid-19 has perhaps made the Medical fraternity take a critical overview of Infection Control in their practice as nothing else has in the recent past.

The magnitude of the infection and its virulence has compelled researchers,clinicians and medical administrators to rethink, strategize and build far more critical safeguards both Pre and Post surgery and even at the OP point

The webinar as indicated in the title would help attendees get a broad spectrum view of Infection Control in Ophthalmic practice in such testing and challenging times.
