It gives me immense pleasure to learn that TwinTech Healthcare Academy and RMD Academy for Health, Chennai, are jointly organizing a seminar on Pain Management & Palliative Care Advances on 18th November, 2019 at Chennai and is bringing out a souvenir to mark the occasion.

Society at large, especially the Medical fraternity has a moral and professional responsibility of ensuring the physical and mental wellbeing of our senior citizens whom we respect and adore, by providing them customized healthcare, moral support and comfort.

Palliative care is emerging as a key branch of healthcare although it still has not received its due importance. I am sure that this conference will enlighten and educate healthcare professionals in dispensing specialized care to the aged and inculcate the human values of love, care and concern for the aged. I congratulate the organizers for focussing on a very humanitarian branch of healthcare, namely 'Palliative Care'.

I convey my best wishes for the success of the conference and extend my warm greetings to the participants.

Dear Mr Mahalingam,

The commendable initiative of Twin Tech Academy and RMD Palliative Care focusses on a very relevant but often neglected area in healthcare. Healthcare will be meaningful and will meet its objectives only when it stretches out and effectively reaches across to the old, feeble and weaker sections of society.

I am delighted to note that TwinTech Healthcare Academy and RMD Palliative Care, the two pioneers in their fields have embarked on this niche exercise of educating and training health professionals on the nuances and intricacies of treating the elderly through efficient Palliative care leading to their optimum health and cheer. This is both timely and timeless – timely in context of its dire need today, timeless in terms of the everlasting impact it will have on the geriatric population.

I am sure that this laudable venture would go a long way in improving the health and living conditions of the elderly.

I wish every success for rewarding deliberations and learning experiences.

Warmest wishes,

Mr. A. Mahalingam,

TwinTech Healthcare Academy, Chennai.

Greetings from Dr V.Shanta, Cancer Institute (WIA) Chennai !

Thank you for requesting a message on the occasion of Conclave on Pain Management & Palliative Care advances, to be held under the hospice's TwinTech Healthcare Academy. I append below a few thoughts on the subject.

PALLIATIVE CARE AND PAIN MANAGEMENT

Thank you for the opportunity to share some of my thoughts on pain relief and advances in palliative care. Congratulations on your organizing a conclave on the subject. There is no doubt that there is increasing awareness about the need for palliative care and related issues.

PALLIATIVE CARE IS A SPECIALTY TODAY

It is time to ponder on what has been achieved. I am sorry that we do not have reliable data on the subject. Successful palliative care is determined by the family satisfaction which can be documented. A major deficiency that I noticed is the lack of humanity, social justice and medical ethics in the graduate and post-graduate curricula. This seems to be a major component of a good doctor-patient relationship but is lacking in today's practice.

The success of palliative care is measured not only by the degree of pain relief or symptom control but the satisfaction of the family. To watch the agony of pain can be most distressing. It is this distress, caused by agonizing pain due to lack of adequate pain control in her young sister in 1923, that evoked the dream of a cancer hospital in the mind of Dr.Muthulakshmi Reddy. She was a legend in her lifetime and founder of the Cancer Institute (WIA) at Chennai, the second in the country. We have to satisfy the patient and the near and dear.

Medical professionals especially a palliative care professional must be an embodiment of patience, compassion, and empathy – the human touch, which alone can bring a smile and hope. Hope never dies.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. V. Shanta, M.B.B.S, D.G.O, M.D
Chairman - Cancer Institute (WIA) Chennai, Tamilnadu, India
