The comprehensive eye care examinations conducted during the camp included detailed history taking, refraction checks, anterior segment evaluations, intraocular pressure measurements for glaucoma detection, and fundus examinations to assess the inner structures of the eye. These thorough assessments were pivotal in diagnosing various eye conditions prevalent among the elderly, ensuring timely and effective interventions.

In addition to eye care, the camp featured holistic health assessments. Each patient was examined by Dr. V. Sarath Babu, MD, a general medicine expert, and Dr. B. Mugilan, a skilled physiotherapist, along with his dedicated team. They provided mobility exercises tailored for senior citizens, addressing the often-overlooked aspect of physical health during eye examinations. This integrated approach underscored TwinTech's commitment to comprehensive geriatric care.

Following the assessments, appropriate measures were taken based on individual needs. Patients received prescribed glasses or reading glasses to enhance their vision immediately. Moreover, several individuals requiring advanced treatments, such as cataract surgery or retinal laser therapy, were promptly referred to specialized facilities for further management.

The response from the community was overwhelmingly positive. Senior citizens expressed immense satisfaction and gratitude for the services rendered, highlighting the camp's impact on improving their quality of life.
